Londi the Dreaming Girl

Illustrated by Lauren Holliday
Written by Nathalie Koenig
Designed by Arthur Attwell and Nick Mulgrew

English

Story Book

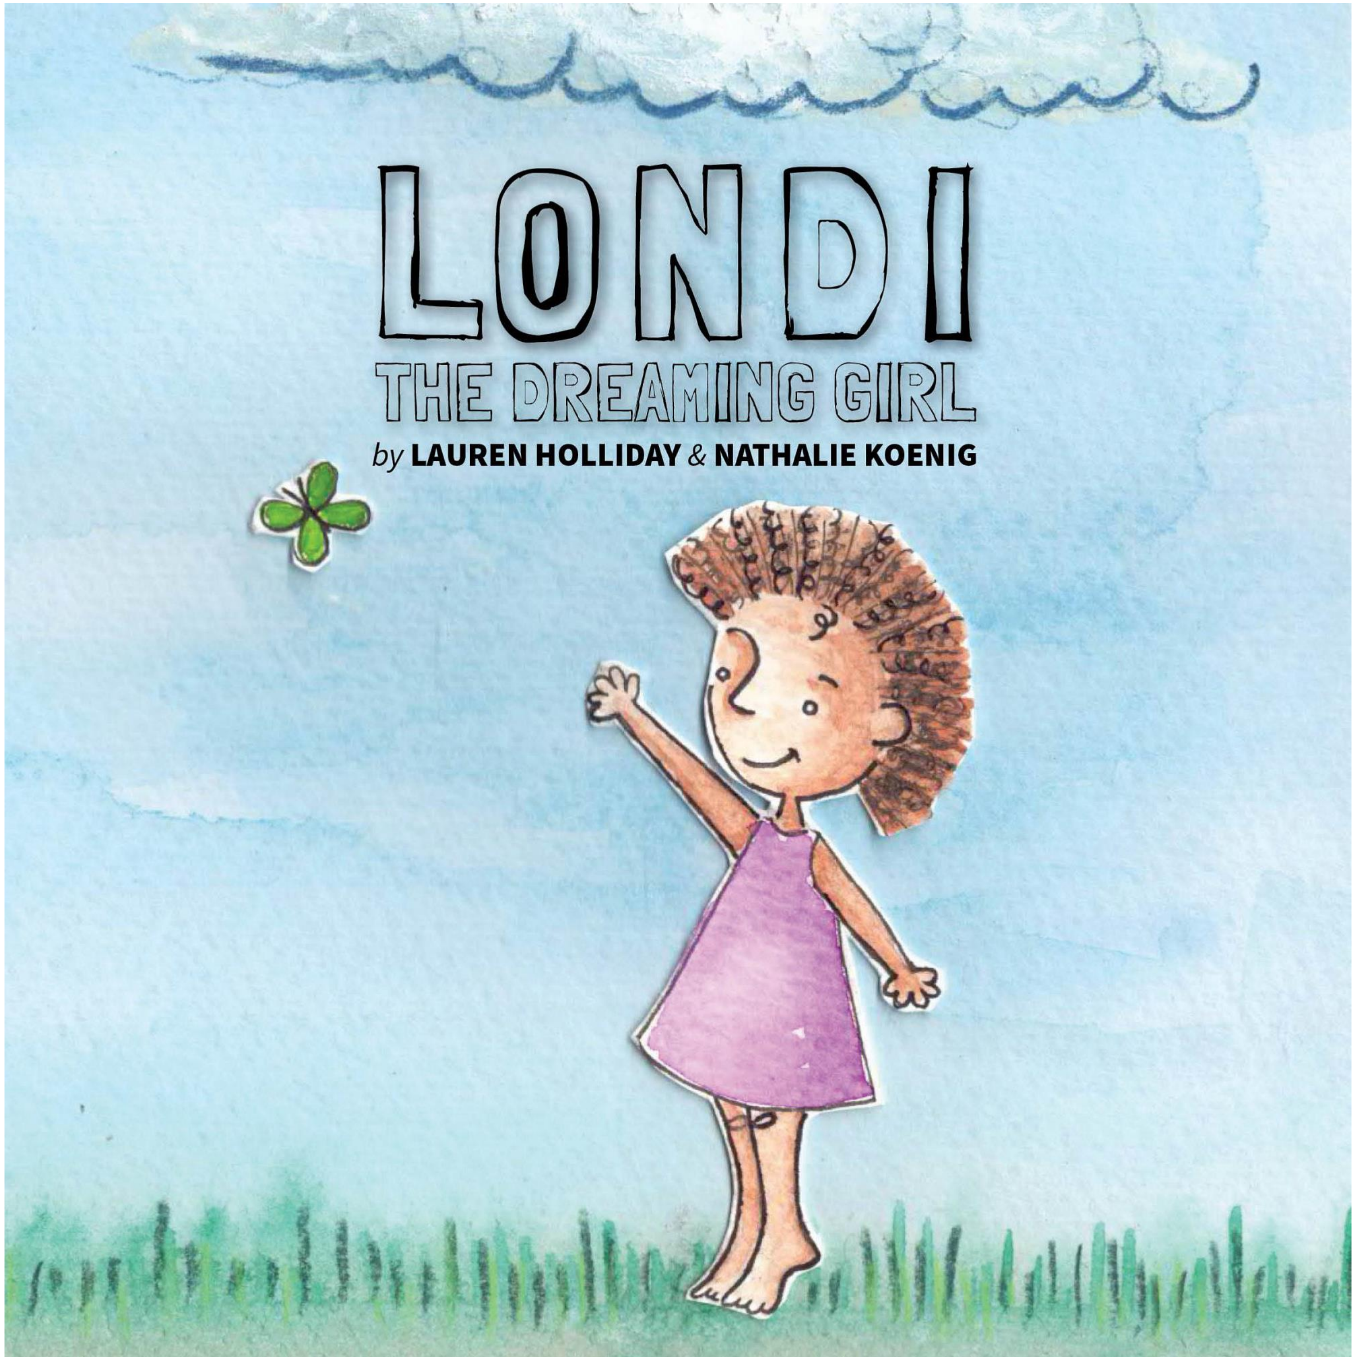

Londi the Dreaming Girl

Illustrated by Lauren Holliday
Written by Nathalie Koenig
Designed by Arthur Attwell and Nick Mulgrew

English

The Dreaming Girl
Illustrated by Lauren Holliday
Written by Nathalie Koenig
Designed by Arthur Attwell and Nick Mulgrew
with the help of the Book Dash participants in Durban on 7 November 2015.

ISBN 978-1-928318-18-7

LONDI
THE DREAMING GIRL
by LAUREN HOLLIDAY & NATHALIE KOENIG

Londi was a dreaming girl. Up in the sky, she didn't see clouds.

Instead Londi saw flying geese, jumping fish, and fluffy sheep running home.

One afternoon, Gogo came outside, looking tired.
“Londi, stop dreaming!” she said.
“It’s time to go and fetch the water.”

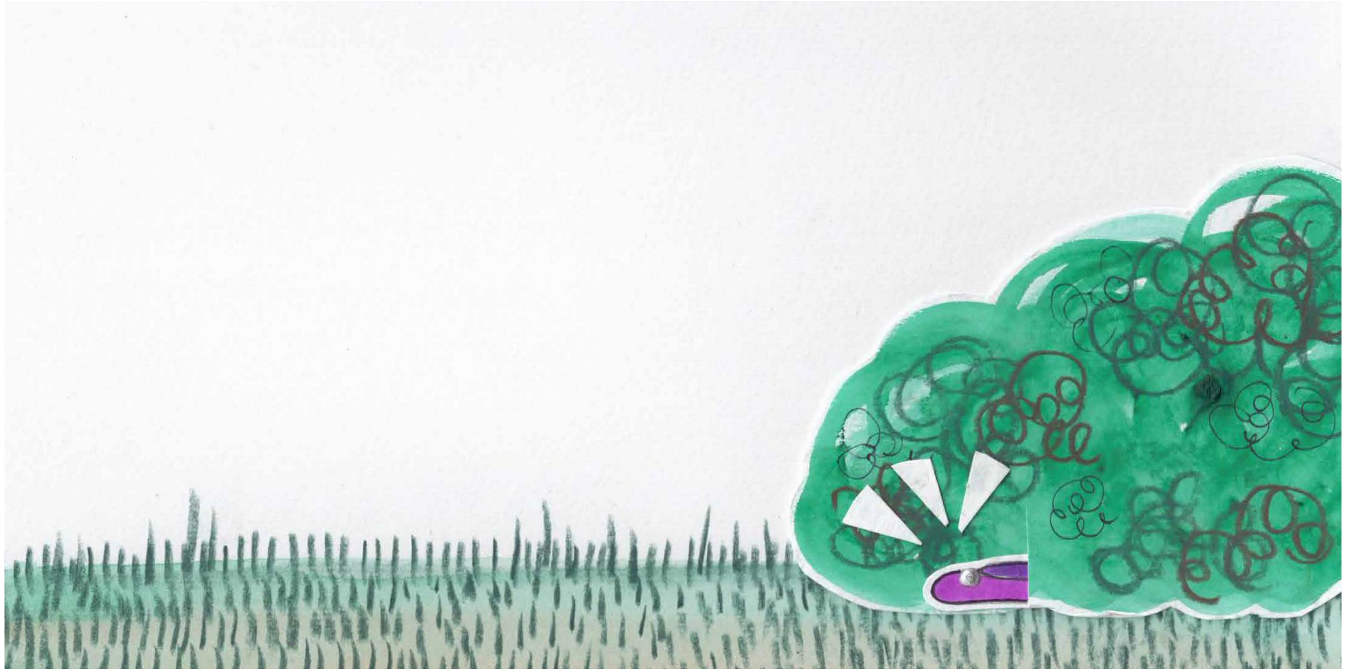

Londi stood up and smiled at her feet.
“Let’s go, feet! You know the way there!”

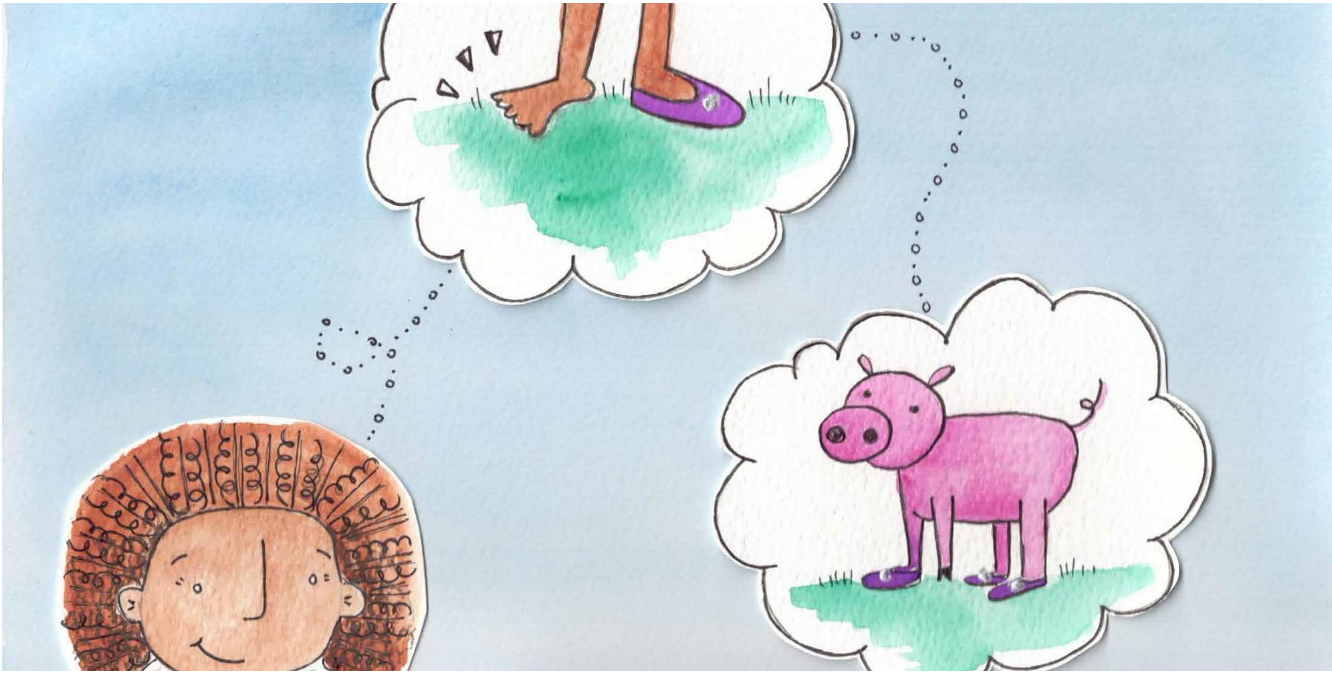

Londi started walking to the tap. She hopped over the rocks. She crept past Mama Neli’s house. She dashed down the path.

The line at the tap was long.
“Oh no!” Londi said to her feet.

Ooh! Londi thought. But what’s that shining over there? I wonder who lost their shoe?

Did it belong to a girl like me?
Or something else...

And what's that under there?

Cheep! Cheep!

And what’s that big shadow? Uh oh, it’s Gogo!
“Londi, your bucket nearly rolled away!”
“Sorry, Gogo. I dreamed too far, again.”

“Come let’s go, my dreaming girl,” said Gogo.

“Look, Gogo! There’s a pink pig in the sky!”

“Oh Londi... It’s just a cloud,” Gogo sighed.

Londi took Gogo’s hand and they walked home together happily.